Pavillion working group meeting in Riverton scheduled for August

The first Pavillion working group meeting since the Environmental Protection Agency announced it is handing its investigation of contaminated water to the state is Aug. 2 in Riverton.

The meeting is public. It begins at 1 p.m. at the Riverton Holiday Inn at 900 E. Sunset Dr.

The Wyoming Department of Environmental Quality and the Wyoming Oil and Gas Conservation Commission will give updates and describe the future investigation of pits, well bore integrity and domestic water wells.
